IS "ENERGY MEDICINE" THE MEDICINE OF THE FUTURE?

By Dr. Dan Wagner

ETA-SCAN is an exciting new computer program from Germany and Switzerland based on the knowledge of quantum mechanics and the effects it has on a biological system. It is true "energy" medicine, and indeed some scientists and physicians have called it the "medicine of the future." Every organ and cell in the human body has its own distinct wave frequency or oscillation (much like every cell phone on the planet has its own frequency) which can be measured and stored in the ETA-SCAN memory data bank as a graph. Each graph represents the exchange of information between the particular tissue or cell and the environment. The database is compiled for healthy tissue based on age and gender. The ETA-SCAN makes possible for doctors or other qualified practitioners to determine the condition of a pathological process of a particular organ. ETA-SCAN displays many detailed views of various organs, tissues, and body structures that allow the practitioner to zero in on and visualize the details of any disturbance. Frequently, displays appear as detailed as an MRI or CT Scan. Each energetic icon (displayed with various color codes) is actually being assessed.

WHAT IS THE ETA-SCAN REALLY TELLING US?

The information that can be obtained from such a system is endless. In my opinion, after receiving advanced training on the system in Canada 4 months ago, I would surmise that what these innovative scientists are trying to show is that about 80 percent of ALL our health problems are not necessarily caused by malfunctioning organs but are due to imbalances from various "stressors." What do we mean by a "stressor?" Of course, "stressors" could be emotional or psychological in nature, but they could just as easily be caused by microorganisms (viruses, bacteria, fungus), parasites, unbalanced tissue, pollutants and toxins, allergies, hormone imbalances, and/or food intolerances. An experienced practitioner can find the underlying problem (s), accurately measure the size of the conflict, and in many cases, low energy can be "inverted" to higher energy to minimize the affliction. ETA-SCAN doesn't "cure" anyone or solve their health problems. However, disturbances can be found quickly before illnesses progress. Logic dictates that if an organ is energetically enhanced, any illness or disease should be easier to suppress.

Another amazing feature of the ETA-SCAN is that any drug, vitamin, mineral, food or dietary supplement can be keyed into the computer system to see if it increases or decreases energetic flow. This is an amazing feature, for now you can accurately determine if the product you are ingesting will actually help or hinder your health. The procedure to collect the initial data takes about 45 minutes, and follow-up evaluations are needed. Please call me for more information.
